

BEFORE THE NATIONS PEOPLE

BEING GIVEN TO CHANGE ECONOMIC DEFENSE POLICY

Rugged Individualism Of Races Finds Washington Adopting Economic Nationalism.

By STEPHEN J. MCNOUGH
WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Rugged individualism among nations, several Washington government farm economists say, is forcing the United States into a policy of economic nationalism in self-defense.

Pointing to a continuing decline in agricultural exports despite recent overtures to war foreign customers, they predict control of crop production is only to its industry. From all present indications this group, all of whom preferred not to be quoted by name, said American farmers may face the prospect of restricted production, probably on a compulsory or semi-compulsory basis, for many years to come, or be confronted with huge surpluses and depression of prices.

FACTS ARE STOP-GAPS
Reciprocal trade agreements and barrier plans now under way were covered by this group as stop-gaps and artificial stimulation of trade. Four factors were held responsible for the present trade situation: 1—Economic self-sufficiency of nations based on politics and self-defense rather than on economics. 2—Change in the world's economic present variance in money standards. 3—The tariff policy of the United States which forbids products in demand for products we export.

VESTED INTEREST PRESSURE
Of these the tendency toward economic nationalism is regarded as the strongest. Since the world war efforts in most foreign countries have been the result of economic pressure, they said, they saw new groups of "vested interests" have grown up around each government and are insisting that government actions be in their continuance.

CLOUDS LIFT OVER SAIS' KING MESSAGE

In hopes to me and my friends, the spirit of one great family. My desire and hope is that the same spirit may become ever stronger in its hold and vigor in its range.

The world is still restless and troubled. The clouds are lifting. We have said to the spirit of one family that we shall overcome them, for their private interests are in the hands of the people, and we shall overcome them by the care for the whole.

I send special greetings to the people of my dominions over whom I reign, for through them the family has become a fellowship of all men, and through them the world is now a single family.

In conclusion, His Majesty wished his listeners a happy Christmas and commended them to God.

OPTIMISTIC OUTLOOK
The National government has been working for a long time in assisting industry, agriculture, shipping and trade, and has paved the way for better health and housing. The year has seen the Mother Country step out into European continental politics with a new spirit.

Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council, sent a message through Europe by a declaration that Britain's frontiers are no longer the chalk cliffs of Dover but the Rhine. Among the cities in the future, there is an indication Britain is now firmly fixed to the affairs of Europe.

POLICY REVEALED
But perhaps the most significant move of all was that one recently when Lord Rothermere, an instruction from Sir John Simon, gave British credit to the Council of Europe, a league of nations for use in keeping peace in the world.

It marked a complete reversal of policy of the London government and did more to bring Germany and France together than probably any other move.

There were two other great separate features in the year. A report of a special parliamentary commission urged far-reaching constitutional reform in India, and there are now being taken steps through a bill which will give the means of that vast land a measure of self-rule in an experiment in self-government that knows no precedent.

The Duke of Kent was married to Princess Maria of Greece, an event that captured the hearts of the entire world.

Santa Claus Makes First Visit To Dionne Quints

The world famous Dionne quintuplets are not being forgotten on their first Christmas. Elaborate preparations were made to make the event notable.

A Christmas tree, stockings (five of them), hung over the fireplace, and a wonderful array of toys sent from all over the continent made this a merry occasion for the little life crest parents, doctor and nurses and all concerned.

The first signs of dawn flamed in the eastern sky, trimly-attired nursing sisters flitted and floated through the corridors, carrying mysterious and intriguing parcels. As the light increased these floated through the corridors the sweet voices of cherries and nursing sisters, singing well beloved carols.

"God Rest Ye, Merry Gentlemen," "Little Town of Bethlehem," "Good King Wenceslas," and other favorite carols wafted through the corridors and all the boys in the Miller Ward awake. Some joined in and some pined for the nurse to sing for them.

Full daylight revealed prettily decorated beds. Strangers, festive, good fireplaces and other decorations brightened the ward and transformed it almost into a fairyland.

Soon the early morning chores were completed. Wounds were dressed, medicine was given and taken and beds were made. At 10:30 a.m. the big moment of the day arrived.

Mrs. Mary Turner, president of the War Widows' Association, and Madam McKay, Taylor and Hawkins, the executive, arrived and were greeted by Miss Kihel and the nursing sisters and members of the staff.

Sturrock, of the Army and Navy Club, Miss Beatrice Crawford, who has worked successfully for the returned men for many years, and members of the staff.

Then began the distribution of the gifts. Turner and her assistants presented a man with a handsome hamper, all done up with Christmas wrappings and looking very attractive and a small box containing a bottle of perfume and a small box containing a bottle of perfume.

DISASTER ONE OF RAIL HISTORY

man's foot. The discovery spared him to seek another body but they found none.

Cause of the accident which sent a Detroit-Toronto express plunging into the rear end of the special which was standing on a siding was not determined.

APPLIED BRAKES
Engineer B. Burrell, in charge of the "Maple Leaf," passenger train No. 18, of the Canadian National Railway, running from Detroit to Toronto, saw the standing train on the siding and drove on expecting to proceed down the main line. He felt his locomotive surge sharply into the siding, applied the emergency brakes and released the coupling between the engine and cars to reduce the shock to his passengers.

Panoramic on the "Maple Leaf" fell a jar and the lights in the coaches were extinguished. No one on that train was injured.

It appeared the "Maple Leaf" had struck an open switch but that could not be established definitely. Persons aboard the special train were hurried in all directions as the "Maple Leaf" became ploughed through the last coach, causing the second to telescope and break the back of the train. Many bodies were recovered from the wreckage and the wreckage of a passenger car, and more from that of the engine.

Ambulances and doctors were called and the railway sent a rescue train to the scene. The wreckage was hampered by slippery ground by the crash. The wreckage lay about 100 feet from the spot where the crash occurred.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL
Most of the injured were taken to the Hamilton General hospital, but some were taken to Toronto and treated at Grace hospital there. All those treated in Toronto were taken to the hospital for further treatment. Canadian National Railway police were sent to the scene to work to direct salvage of passengers' property which will be held by Hamilton until owners can claim it. Much of it consisted of Christmas gifts and wrapped parcels, some of which were soiled and torn in the crash.

Survivors told many harrowing stories of their experiences and of the horror they suffered in the darkness as they sought to help rescuers and screaming injured.

Two small boys, apparently brothers, were taken to the hospital after the accident stumbling over the wreckage and were killed. They were taken to the hospital for further treatment.

A Cookville physician, Dr. G. A. McGuffin, went to London by train because he thought railway travel safer than driving in winter, he told friends. He was never seen at the hospital.

A young woman, painfully injured, was taken to the hospital for further treatment. She was taken to the hospital for further treatment.

ENGINEER TRAINED
Passengers of the "Maple Leaf" praised the skill of engineer Burrell in saving them from injury. He was praised for his skill in saving them from injury.

Engineer Burrell said that he felt his engine swing into the siding he knew he could not stop it because the distance was too great. He estimated his train was travelling about 10 miles an hour when he saw the standing train.

The special train, composed principally of wooden day coaches, was standing at the station at 10 o'clock, and backed into the siding. According to the railway, the special train was standing at the station at 10 o'clock.

It had been at rest about 10 minutes when the headlight of the express flashed into sight. Instead of continuing along the main line, the locomotive took the switch and struck the standing train.

RESCUE WORK
Rescue work was begun immediately by untrained and slighted injured passengers of the train. Doctors and nurses were called and others rushed to the scene. An emergency call was sent to Hamilton and all available ambulances and doctors were pressed into service.

Those who reached the scene immediately after the crash were horrified at the sight of the wreckage and mangled bodies were rescued from the wreckage and taken to the hospital.

One man who apparently had been sitting in the end of the coaches was planned in the wreckage. He was taken to the hospital for further treatment.

Origin of the blaze has not been determined, although Deputy Chief James McGee is of the opinion that it may have started from a candle.

The institution is in charge of Father Martin and Nyanichin who ministered the other members of the seminary. The fire broke out at 10:30 p.m. and the fire department was called.

FREEZING SPRAY
Spray from the hose lines dried on the faces of the firemen and the church, fell easy victim to the freezing weather. The fire fighters had to wear masks to protect their faces from the freezing spray.

The severity of the weather made the handling of the hose lines difficult and every man on the lines was given first aid attention for frost bitten hands.

The seminary, an old building, was a two-story building and was occupied by the fathers of the college. The fire broke out at 10:30 p.m. and the fire department was called.

Saar Police Celebrate

SAARBRECKEN, Dec. 26.—An international Christmas was celebrated here today when the Saar "peace army" of British, Italian, Swedish and Dutch troops fittingly observed the Yuletide.

There is no police territory during the Yuletide. The troops held church parties.

Every window in the fourth corner was lit up. The troops held church parties.

Then I made my way out of the car to find the rear chair cars of the injured were crowded with people. The troops held church parties.

I can't for the life of me see how anyone could have been so stupid as to get into a car. The troops held church parties.

The baggage room of the C.N.R. station on Stuart Street, Hamilton, resembled a clearing station behind the lines following a major engagement in the Great War. Officials, policemen and other stood in horizontal lines.

TWO LITTLE GIRLS
Six-year-old and 11-year-old were seen of them lying there beneath the wreckage. The troops held church parties.

A middle-aged man from Toronto, who declined to give his name, told me his impression. "I was in that coach," he said. "My wife and daughter were with me and they are both injured."

Some of the victims, not seriously hurt, told their versions of what happened. The troops held church parties.

Princess Maria Celebrates Her 20th Birthday

ROME, Dec. 26.—Europe wondered if and when her engagement to Archduke Otto of Habsburg would announce the birth of a new dynasty. Princess Maria, of Italy, celebrated her 20th birthday today in much the same way as any other girl.

Although reports they were betrothed got out last fall, it was understood generally that the engagement would not be announced officially while Otto's claims to the Austrian crown were unsettled.

DOCT OF MARRIAGE
The Princess Maria, a reporter for the Suburb Star, was in the second coach ahead of those married. He aided a number of the injured and helped save the life of one man who was a victim of the crash.

The scene of the disaster was a rugged section of country. The tracks for some distance were at the edge of the Dundas valley, high over the city. The station itself is set on the side of a precipitous slope. Below the tracks for some distance were at the edge of the Dundas valley, high over the city.

Injured began to arrive at the Hamilton General Hospital about 11 p.m. barely two hours after the crash. The first arrivals were the injured and the injured.

Nurses bustled to and fro, bearing instruments, bandages and other supplies. The injured were taken to the hospital for further treatment.

MOAN WITH PAIN
Occupants of the stretcher looked on like members of the engine crew than passengers as they came into the hospital. The injured were taken to the hospital for further treatment.

Intenes of the hospital were kept busy while other practitioners of the city entered and offered their services.

Her uncle, William Parker, was taken to the hospital for further treatment. The injured were taken to the hospital for further treatment.

Hauptmann's Town This Val Of Evidence?

FATEFUL ARRAY OF HIS TELL-TALE POSSESSIONS DRAWS STOLID GERMAN CARPENTER TO TRIAL FOR "CRIME OF CENTURY"

LIKE maugr tugging stones into position to build an impenetrable wall, the prosecutors represent New Jersey state evidence on evidence, dovetailing fragments of paper and wood and metal to form in Bruno Hauptmann with a barrier of fact from which there can be no escape.

Will Hauptmann be able to break down that wall of evidence when he goes to trial in Flemington, N.J., early in January on charges of murdering Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr. in 1932?

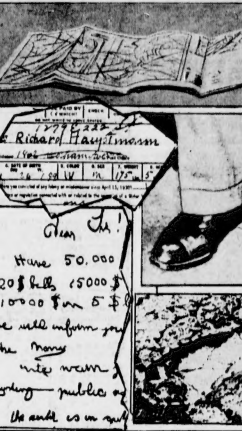

CONSIDER the few of the blocks of evidence the state will use. Pictured here, starting at the left, there is the automobile license plate from Hauptmann's car that led to his identification when a gasoline station attendant noted it on a $10 bill found proved to have been money paid over to ransom the slain baby.

WAS it only coincidence that Hauptmann had scribbled on a painted door sill in his home the phone number and address of ransom negotiator Dr. John F. Condon? ... And if the state charges the baby was murdered with a pistol, how will he explain the gun so cleverly concealed in a cache gouged out of a garage timber? Or the ransom bills stuffed into adjacent holes? ... The ladder down which the baby was carried from the Lindbergh nursery, the state will say, was made of lumber from a yard where Hauptmann worked and included also wood from his house. ... He broke a spoon into fragments and sharpened them into knives while confined in the Bronx County, N.Y., jail. Was this the design of a guilty conscience? ... And what use will the state make of the six memorandum books found in Hauptmann's home? The greatest secret has been maintained regarding the information they contain and the prisoner may be surprised by the way they are turned against him.

BUT none of these things will convict him alone. The state must prove he was at the scene of the crime. And for this purpose many things have been accumulated. ... There are the red maps of a region near the Lindbergh home, found in Hauptmann's trunk. ... There's the ducking footprint below the nursery window, left by Hauptmann just after the fatal departure? ... And not least of all in the ransom note left on the nursery window sill. Experts say that note was written by the same hand that signed Hauptmann's application for an automobile driver's license.

FARMER OF PIONEERS FOUND FROZEN

Robert Plaine's Corpse is Discovered on Village Lot

DUNELANE, Sask., Dec. 26.—His frozen body found half-buried in a snowdrift, Robert Plaine, 65-year-old pioneer district farmer was thought to have been a victim of extreme cold and a raging blizzard here yesterday. The body was found by J. C. Metcalf village overseer Christmas morning in a lane at the rear of Metcalf's lot.

Plaine was last seen here about 6 o'clock Christmas Eve when he told friends of his intention to return to his farm home, a half mile distant from the village. He had been visiting his mother, Mrs. Mary Plaine, who lives in the village.

Authorities were immediately notified of the tragedy and Constable Stevens of the R.C.M.P. at Elbow was able to make his way through snow drifts to investigate. Corner J. Leckie, M.D. of Lucky Lake, was unable to find the body, but, however, due to drifting snow which throughout the night had blocked highway travel.

It was expected the coroner would arrive by train Wednesday morning. Meanwhile, Constable Stevens is making investigations.

ESKIMOS HATE BUFFALO HIDES

CHURCHILL, Man., Dec. 26.—Reports that 500 green buffalo hides are being shipped here for distribution among Eskimos are not finding favor with the Eskimos in the northern shores of Hudson Bay. A shipment was sent to Churchill Friday, 150 miles north of here, two days ago, but only those in dire straits would accept one.

The native, constantly on the move, must travel light. Even when rough-tanned, the buffalo hides are hated by the Eskimos who have taken his family and equipment with him. He has no use for them and finds great difficulty with the hides in their trip.

Caribou skin is the favorite of the northern native for both winter and summer clothing. It is light, warm and easily tanned. A buffalo covering would be too heavy and it would weigh in the neighborhood of 100 pounds.

Corset Comes Back To Major Hockey

The corset is supposed to be a vanished thing, like bustles, anti-epagetic cravattes and prohibition. It has been revived in the National Hockey League. George McLean, butler of the Montreal Canadiens, broke three ribs in practice some weeks ago, and was recently wearing a steel corset to protect the injured district. He was also wearing a steel corset when he was hit by a player from a neighbor. When she returned the building was in flames.

Babe Burns In Home

TRURO, N.S., Dec. 26.—Two-year-old James Dalton was burned to death in a fire which destroyed the home where his parents had planned a joyous Christmas for him. The tragedy occurred when Dalton, who had been playing in a neighbor's house, returned to his home to find it in flames.

Nagging, In-Laws, Drink Blamed As U.S. Divorces Pass One-A-Minute Rate

Sinclair Trying to Learn Why 18 Per Cent of Marriages Fail

BY GORDON SINCLAIR

By the time you finish this column of type six people will have been divorced in the United States. Another six will have walked out on their families never to return but without the formality of securing a judge.

This allows for five minutes to read the column. It shows that more than one person every minute of the day or night, Sundays and holidays included, abandons forever the man he swore to "love, honor and comfort in sickness and in health."

Most of them will have been married less than two years but practically none less than one year. Most of them will recite frantically, as "the judge" has said, "I do" to a rather bored judge.

Only one in five will ever remarry, says the Bureau of Census. Being the limit of their endurance.

Let most of them will have had children.

This probably suggests that American home life is cracking up. Experts say it is. They point out that never in the history of the United States has the divorce rate been so high. It has been steadily mounting since 1887 to the present.

Just now 18 per cent of all marriages end in the divorce court. Sociologists say that within the next 50 years this total will climb to 40 per cent.

Who are these experts? How do they know what they're talking about? Why are people swearing to "love, honor and comfort" and then cursing their life partners with a hate to the next?

Carlson, who is the favorite of the northern native for both winter and summer clothing. It is light, warm and easily tanned. A buffalo covering would be too heavy and it would weigh in the neighborhood of 100 pounds.

SEKS MYSTERIOUS BLONDE

I hope to chat with the "mystery blonde," so familiar in all New York divorce cases. To see the inside of her life, to see her in the "mystery blonde" who has broken up 25,000 marriages in the last few years.

Perhaps I can learn why the second year of marriage is the most fatal to happiness; why the little things that seem so trivial at first become so much more serious as the years pass by.

It is in 1900 in America that a divorce rate of 300 per 100,000 people, and 18 per cent of marriages ended in divorce.

BOU BROUILLARD Beats Slaughter

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 26.—Swinging right and left hooks like as in the days when he ruled the welter weight and middleweight classes, French-Canadian Lou Brouillard yesterday won a technical knock-out victory over Sammy Slaughter.

Terence Red Robinson stopped the punching match in the fourth round because of a badly cut eye suffered by Slaughter. Brouillard, who is now in the welter weight class, was far ahead in the count at the time the bout ended.

WIFE PLEADS OVER RADIO FOR ACCUSED

Mrs. Hauptmann Broadcasts, Betty Gow Arrives From Scotland

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Dec. 26.—Mrs. Bruno Richard Hauptmann, his voice breaking repeatedly with sobs, appealed to people of the United States yesterday not to prejudice her husband before his trial for the murder of the Lindbergh baby.

Speaking in a special broadcast from the hotel opposite the Hudson County jail, where Hauptmann is confined, the little German woman reiterated her statement that her husband on the night of the Lindbergh kidnapping, March 1, 1932, had come to take her home from the Bronx bakery where he worked, and could not have been in New Jersey at the scene of the crime.

One outstanding fact is that 77 per cent of all children marriages end in divorce; 18 per cent of all marriages break up but only eight per cent of those with children. People who have twins have less than one chance in 300 of ever seeing the made of a divorce court, which ought to prove something.

Any man who has the idea that Reno with its divorce build-up and Bailly leads the continent, and Portland, Oregon, wins that doubtful honor, for in Portland every second marriage ends in divorce.

Another rather surprising fact is that New York state is far below the average for the nation, while New York City is far below the average for the state. Yet the Albany jail in New York is crowded beyond capacity.

One rather startling fact comes from Dr. Walter Wilson, Cornell University who, in 1891, when the divorce rate was negligible, found that by 1928 it would be 18 per cent more and no less. Now it is 18 per cent more. I'd like to ask doctors, what the next 10 years will bring.

But enough of statistics. The job is to locate individuals who can find out why Ethel Merriam, for one, has divorced and remarried seven times. Is she trying to have a world record, or to show off or what? What to her ex-husbands?

It might be interesting.

Five Assists, No Goals Game Recorded

While five points are one less than the maximum number registered by any player in a single game of the National Hockey League, Hockey's Smith of Montreal Maroons probably carried a minor record with five assists no goals.

A game against New York Americans on December 8, The Mark-Smith line annexed 12 assists, while the Chicago Blackhawks scored 20 points in the game. It took both teams to win, and the Hawks were the victors.

This equals a record set by New York Americans on November 20, 1932, when, in a victory over Toronto Leafs, Rangers were credited with five assists.

Jackman of Leafs had five points in his team's 4-2 victory. Banged with three goals and two assists.

POISONOUS AND NON-POISONOUS MUSHROOMS

CANNOT BE DISTINGUISHED BY APPEARANCE

Since there are about 40,000 known species of mushrooms, some poisonous and some non-poisonous, it is virtually impossible for the amateur to distinguish them. One of the most deadly mushrooms is the false morel, which is often mistaken for the true morel. The false morel is a poisonous variety that has caused many deaths. The safest plan to procure mushrooms is to buy them from a reliable source, such as a mushroom farm, where only known varieties are cultivated.

SEA TRADITION VIOLATED IS HIS COMPLAINT

Skinner of Battered Boat Dislikes U.S. Cutters

HALIFAX, Dec. 26.—The battered motor vessel Mary E. Kenney, a mystery ship of the Atlantic coast for more than two weeks, lay at a wharf in Halifax harbor today. The ship's owner, Captain Freeman Anderson, told what he had to say about the U.S. coastguard cutters.

They violated every tradition of the sea when they refused to take us in tow," the irate skipper declared. "They did offer to take us in tow and scuttle our ship but there was a catch about it. They would agree to that. They all stood by."

After his disabled craft had been battered about by storm after storm for five days, the skipper said, the Mary E. Kenney was towed by the coastguard cutter, and was now awaiting repairs to his engine.

French-Canadian Publisher, Ex-Banker, For Assistant Governor

MONTREAL, Dec. 26.—The Gazette yesterday started information from Ottawa is to the effect that J. Hector Bender is to be named assistant governor of the Bank of Canada. "The appointment will be made early in the new year, probably at the first meeting of the cabinet."

The Gazette adds, "Nominations of the bank's new governor, a strongly-voiced and experienced of the French language press of Quebec province, and of French-Canadian in general, that one of the three most noted of Canada's national financial organization officials will be named."

Other senior officials are Graham Towns, governor, and J. A. C. Osborne, deputy governor. Mr. Bender was with the Royal Bank of Canada for many years, subsequently being administrative head of La Patrie and the French-language daily newspaper was bought by La Presse.

Boston Is Unlucky City for Canadians

If Montreal Canadians had to play in Boston, they would be lucky. League games in Boston they would have to play in a 13 straight league matches in Boston, once by a 10-0 count, November 20, 1933, which was the last occasion they scored in a league game in the City of the Sacred Cod. Canadians won none of 13 straight league matches in Boston, which were of most importance.

Argentina Crops Suffer From Heat

BUEENOS AIRES, Dec. 26.—The rental raindrops accompanied by hail broke Argentina's recent heat wave last night, but the resulting damage was widespread.

The temperature was climaxed by a Chinese day of 80 degrees. The sudden storms ruined much of the Buenos Aires province, and much of the wheat, corn, alfalfa and fruit. Hailstones weighing as much as one pound each were found in the village of Carlos Casaravalle.

QUICK WORK

A band of armed men raided and robbed a bank in Montreal. Twenty-five minutes later they were in custody. Radio calls sent out from police headquarters in Montreal were quickly answered to head off the fleeing thieves, and they were caught with no chance to make a get-away by using their weapons.

The radio was long ago brought into the service of organized, big scale crime. Less promptly, it is being made an instrument for punishing down crime and thus discouraging crime. It is now part of the standard equipment of police forces in all large cities. One has only to listen in to the radio to know a short-wave receiver to learn how widely and continuously it is used by them.

A few years ago it was proposed to supply this equipment to Edmonton's police force, but the cost was thought prohibitive at the time. There is plenty of evidence, and it is accumulating rapidly, that even in cities of this size it is an effective aid in the catching of law-breakers. A fleet of radio-directed prowler cars should be particularly useful in rounding up motorists who molest women on the streets, a class from whom Edmonton does not appear to be entirely free.

ALWAYS "READY"

"The Old Guard" here, it is never surrenders. Hon. George Headley told the U.F.A. members in the House of Commons that if they wanted him to run again as their candidate "I will be ready."

That was putting it mildly, any time. What the U.F.A. strategists had to find out was whether he would run as their candidate if they asked him, but whether he would run if they didn't.

It isn't likely they found that out, but they can draw their own conclusions from the record. If the veteran Minister of Agriculture has missed a chance to "mix it" in an election contest in the last quarter of a century it has been by his own intention, and not by any lack of vision him standing on the sidelines among the operators when there is fighting going on in the arena.

He has been a member of the U.F.A. since the party tactics did not want him to plunge into the fray, but he plunged in all the same.

If the party managers think it is time now for him to take a "rest" from politics, he is mistaken in their man. Rest is one thing the Hon. George does not pine for, if it means resting from public life, and the U.F.A. proselytized him from the Conservative League they took on something in the nature of a continuing responsibility.

If they are now going to muster him one of the ranks they will likely have to get Premier Bennett to appoint him to the Senate. And, throughout the Conservative that he has there have been many worse appointments made to that body.

AT THE WALLING WALL

Edmonton's eastern-owned newspaper, operated as an exponent, advocate and apologist for "sound" money and tightened belts in Edmonton, walls galled by the local campaign "Do Not Omit Sinking Fund Levies."

It is admitted by the local champion for water-logging money that the sinking fund of $700,000 in the sinking fund, that Saskatoon is about $125,000 for the year; that Calgary is putting into the fund $100,000 more money is left after paying running expenses; that the larger western cities Winnipeg and Edmonton alone have their funds fully paid up; that Edmonton during the three years ago has been sinking fund board treasury notes instead of cash—and that nothing better has happened in any of these cities in consequence of having deferred sinking fund payments in whole or in part. Vancouver, it is said, is paying a lower rate of interest to the bank than the current borrowing that Edmonton is paying.

Despite all this, the city council is given to understand it would be committing some unprecedented and unpardonable offence if it should defer payments to the sinking fund for 1935, and that some unspecified kind of a "damocles' sword" would be suspended above the city in consequence.

one-quarter of the homes in the city liable to confiscation for tax arrears, this amounts simply to a proposal that council should go on demanding more than there is any chance of collecting, and proceed with the suicidal process of striking more names off the tax list, adding more names to the relief rolls, and making the city—and all this without accomplishing the purpose.

By no amount of salary-slashing and employment-cutting can the city hall can count on the expenditure for 1935 down to a figure $1,100,000 below that of 1934. And the tax rate cannot be reduced in proportion to the savings that cannot be cut from 64 mills to 45 mills, a rate to which council is pledged, and which is quite as high as there is any hope of collecting.

To effect this technique, and make this reduction in the rate, only one course offers. That is to suspend payments into the sinking fund for the year, amounting to some $700,000. No suspending of the bond-holder's security is involved. On the contrary, his security will be more than threatened but positively managed to collect still enough now for delinquency by making impossible demands upon them.

Macaroni, Spaghetti and Noodles

By DOCTOR FRANK MCCOY

With the coming of the winter months, the average person will be able to digest and assimilate larger quantities of the starchy foods.

Among the more wholesome starches are the Italian pastas, macaroni, spaghetti, noodles and a host of similar products manufactured out of white wheat and water into hundreds of shapes, such as stars, crescents, shells, the alphabet, etc.

These pastas, but this is a somewhat unusual name for these products because a secret process, jealously guarded by Italy for fully a hundred years, has been used.

The flour from hard wheat is most commonly used for manufacturing these pastas and it is mixed with a small amount of boiling water and mixed a little round by hand. It is then forced out of a cylindrical press through the small holes of a perforated metal plate.

In Italy many colored varieties are manufactured, being colored yellow with eggs, green with spinach juice and red with beet juice. The latter two types are used for the manufacture of these products because a secret process, jealously guarded by Italy for fully a hundred years, has been used.

These products are highly starchy foods, they should not be combined with cheese or tomatoes as is done in the average recipe. The starchy food of the tomato does not make a good combination with any starchy food. The best way to prepare these pastas is to cook them in unsalted water. Care must be taken that the water is thoroughly boiling. When cooked, they should be separated from the water and seasoned with butter or cream.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
IT IS QUESTIONED: "My husband told me that my teeth were all asleep. During the daytime I am awfully nervous."

ANSWER: The most common cause of grinding of the teeth during sleep is digestive distaste. It is caused by a bad diet, and a good habit to build up your health and see if you can not improve your digestion and your nerves at some time. If the nervousness continues, find out what is causing it. Rest, trouble, eye strain, and derangements affecting the reproductive organs are common physical causes of extreme nervousness.

QUESTION: Mrs. Tom T. writes: "My husband is having considerable trouble with his fingernails. He keeps his hands in gasoline all day, could that have anything to do with it?"

ANSWER: I would advise that you place him on a diet affording him an abundance of food minerals needed to grow strong nails. Also, have him follow the treatment already mentioned in Disorders of the Nails which I will send to you if you will write again, giving your name and address and enclosing a stamped, stamped envelope. Add an extra stamp if you want the article on Food Minerals.

IT IS QUESTIONED: "I have a considerable immersion of the hands in gasoline might play a considerable part in producing the trouble with my fingernails?"

ANSWER: As a general rule, the patient with stomach ulcers has no pain on the milk diet. I have taken it. The best plan is for you to write again, giving me your name and address, so that special advice may be sent you. Enclose 5c in stamps and a large envelope.

Dr. Frank McCoy's great book, "The Fast Way to Health," gives you the mechanics of health in plain English. It is the only book of its kind. It is a highly popular book on hand at The Bulletin. WHEN CANADA WAS DIVIDED
On this date in 1793 the historic city of Quebec once more saw history made. On November 18 previously a proclamation was issued by General Clarke, acting governor general, lieutenant governor of the province of Quebec and commander-in-chief, announcing the division of the province into two parts.

It was a dramatic experiment, forced by the influx of Protestant settlers into the province and especially into the "upper country," an experiment in government which, despite many untoward circumstances in its later days, served its purpose. It was not liked by the French because it was an admission of the break up of their province, but it gave them the whole eastern part of the province in their own hands, and the creation of Upper Canada removed from them a number of problems of administration which would have involved many dead-end issues.

So it was that, despite their dislike for the British, the people of Quebec took part in the celebration of the historic day which marked this day. As Mrs. Stowe, in her day wrote: "The Province of Quebec was divided into two parts, the one called Upper Canada, and the other Lower Canada."

Locals Outscored 5-1 Initial Frame But Rally To Win

Fighting All-Stars In E.A.C. Colors Provide Thrilling Battle To Overcome Large, Early Deficit

Those moaning sounds from 1,000 souls, beating a note of despondency for the local all-star brigade after a wild first period scoring spree by Saskatoon, changed suddenly in the last two periods into uncheered rounds of wild excitement as the local crew wiped out an early Saskatoon lead of 5-1 and came from behind to triumph in overtime, 7-5. It was the Christmas Day hockey program at the Arena between Saskatoon Wexleys and a local all-star team decked out in Edmonton Athletic Club colors.

SMALL CROWD SEES GRAY HOCKEY TEST

It was a great battle for the small number of power-holders, who at first murmured loudly as they watched E.A.C. smothered by Saskatoon scoring spree, but later unleashed a terrific attack of their own. Organizing their plays and tightening up on a loose defence, E.A.C. were superior to the invaders in the end, and third overtime chapters. They evened the score before time in the third period and then went on to emerge as victors in 10 minutes of extra time.

WEXLEYS COME OUT FIGHTING

With a burst of speed capitalized on the weak E.A.C. defence to outscore the local club 5-1. Leading the attack was the brilliant Wexley forward, who scored twice. The Wexleys' victory was aided by a goal from the Wexleys' star forward, who scored twice. The E.A.C.'s defense was shaky throughout the game, and the Wexleys capitalized on their opportunities.

WENT OUT FIGHTING

Facing a deficit of four goals, and which incidentally is not a small amount to overcome, E.A.C. went out fighting in the second chapter; held Wexleys scoreless while they bagged a brace of markers. They regained this performance in the third and overtime periods, getting two in the third to even the count, and winning the game 7-5 with a brace more in extra time. It took great fighting spirit to overcome the Wexley four-goal lead, but the boys really were not out of the necessary markers.

COURAGEOUS SQUAD

In the Wexleys they met a courageous squad of youthful porters, who although they played well, could not keep pace with the all-star squad and after the first period scoring spree failed to break into the scoring column. The Wexleys' victory was aided by a goal from the Wexleys' star forward, who scored twice. The E.A.C.'s defense was shaky throughout the game, and the Wexleys capitalized on their opportunities.
